DETENTION ORDER

FINDINGS OF FACT AND STATEMENT OF REASONS FOR DETENTION

There is probable cause to believe the defendant committed the conspiracy drug offense. The maximum penalty is in excess of ten years. There is therefore a rebuttable presumption against the defendant's release based upon both dangerousness and flight risk, under Title 18 U.S.C. § 3142(e). Presumption was not overcome in this case for the following reasons:

- (1) The Government's case is described as involving two drug distribution organizations where the defendant is considered the leader of one of the organizations. The investigation has revealed sums of cash in the tens of thousands of dollars, some of which was seized as it was transported from Colorado. The defendant is also reported to have purchased homes and cars for family members who are co-defendants in this case. This appears to have been done to conceal the true source of his income. Thus, the Court is concerned the defendant's access to monetary resources may be used to facilitate flight. Heightening the Court's concern of flight is the fact that a co-conspirator has fled to Vietnam to avoid prosecution.
- (2) Defendant has no stable employment. He refers to employment with his father's car washing business, but actual work was sporadic according to the Government's investigation.
- The Government's case based on daily surveillance of defendant's (3) residence and wiretap interception of telephone calls between him and the co-defendants who were couriers for the organization, as well a between him and Hai Nguyen, a broker for bringing in the smuggled marijuana from Canada.
- (4) Due to the nature of the instant offense, the defendant is viewed as a risk of danger to the community.

It is therefore ORDERED:

- (l) The defendant shall be detained pending trial and committed to the custody of the Attorney General for confinement in a correction facility separate, to the extent practicable, from persons awaiting or serving sentences or being held in custody pending appeal;
- (2) The defendant shall be afforded reasonable opportunity for private consultation with counsel;
- (3) On order of a court of the United States or on request of an attorney for the Government, the person in charge of the corrections facility in which the defendant is confined shall deliver the defendant to a United States Marshal for the purpose of an appearance in connection with a court proceeding; and
- (4) The clerk shall direct copies of this order to counsel for the United States, to counsel for the defendant, to the United States Marshal, and to the United States Pretrial Services Officer.

DATED this 29th day of September, 2006.
